Description

Tamme Farm herb garden exhibits one of the largest seasoning, aromatic and medicinal herb collections in Estonia. The farm is located in Malda Village near Pärnu. Walking around the garden, one can enjoy unforgettable aromas and tastes: the varied and exciting collection in the garden features about 500 different plants.

The story of Tamme Farm Tamme Farm was established in 2001 when the future hostess Heli moved to the farm of her grandparents, planted strawberries and opened a garden. She discovered her passion for seasoning, aromatic and medicinal herbs, so it wasn't long until her passion turned into her everyday work done with love and care. The larger part of the garden is used for growing edible herbs and seasoning herbs and the other part for decorative and medical herbs. The paradise at Tamme Farm has both forgotten vegetables and beautiful decorative cuttings to offer. The herb garden features:

- seasoning herbs,
- medicinal herbs.

The family uses the herbs in delicacies ready to purchase:

- pickled chilis,
- gourmet and spiced jams,
- exotic herbal teas,
- herb-flavoured salts, etc.

A tour around Tamme Farm can be taken with the matron or a guide. During the visits full of tastes and flavours, knowledge is shared about the herbs and plants and delicious herb tea and pies tasted Cuttings can also be purchased from the farm.
